U.F.A. PICNIC AT PENHOLD A BIG SUCCESS

A Number of Red Deer People Present

The U.F.A. picnic held at Penhold on Wednesday, July 10th, was a great success. Good weather and good attendance contributing to make it a very notable event. A number of new members joined. Vice-President Rogers distinguished himself by bringing seven waunderers into the fold, thus adding to what he had already done, putting him easily at the head of the evangelization committee.

The sports, under the able management of T. P. Pareels, W. Whitehead, and H. Donnelly, sports committee, proved a great attraction. The generosity of Red Deer and Penhold business men provided a very fine list of prizes. Prominent among the winners were Owen Richards, Katie Carswell, Martha Whitehead, Gladys Greening and Emily Grant on the ladies' side, and Murray McKinnon, Harry Kennings, Dick Lee, H. Donnelly, Chris, Quinton, Cecil Parler and P. Martin on the men's side.

In the afternoon Penhold baseball team played Horn Hill, beating them by 4 to 3. The two joined forces and out it all over the Red Deer team, which came down for a friendly game in the evening. E. F. Morris umpired both games to the satisfaction of everyone. The sports committee and the officers of the U.F.A. join in heartily thanking everyone who so generously contributed to make the picnic a success.

Below is a list of donations from Red Deer business men. We have no detailed list of those received from Penhold men, but everyone did nobly. McLean Bros., ladies' handbag; Vunderberg & Co., boy's knickers; S. Nelson, box cigars; Day Hardware, two pocket knives; W. E. Lord, two ladies' belts; Gaetz-Cornett, baseball and mitt; Chevrolet-Houston store, two boys' caps; Smith & Gaetz, 22 rifle; Parker's Drug Store, stamped leather workbox; T. A. Gaetz, box cigars; D. S. Long, pair gloves; J. Hale, box cigars; Brazer's store, berry bowl; John McVicar, rubber ball; H. H. Hummer, watch fob; E. G. Johns & Co., jardiniere; C. B. Schmitt, baggy; H. J. Snell, framed picture; Hadley & Webb, mouth organ; H. J. Snell, ladies' brooch; Cunningham Land Co., cash, $5.00.

Wedding Bells

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McPhee, at noon Wednesday, July 9, when their daughter, Florence was married to Mr. Heenan Graham son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Graham, of Edwell by the Rev. J. G. Meek, of Willowdale.

The bride was very pretty in white embroidered veil over silk; she carried a large bunch of roses and was attended by her two sisters, Miss Miss Katie McPhee and the groom's small niece, Miss Esther Kendrick, of Pine Lake. These small maidens of six summers, were very dainty in white with the blue ribbons, each carrying a huge bunch of wild roses.

Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present. A dainty lunch was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. After which the bride changed her dress for her going away gown of Carleton blue, with white hat trimmed to match. Mr. and Mrs. Graham took the evening train for Vancouver, where they expect to make their home. The young couple will be greatly missed in the community as they were always to be depended on to help in every worthy cause whether fun frolic or work. The good wishes of friends and neighbors accompany them in their new life.

Prelude Wheat Again

T. Kennedy, of Ulster, Alberta, writing to the Edmonton Bulletin on the merits of Prelude wheat, says: "The writer has Prelude wheat which he had out last year on June 25th. It will be ripe by August 1st. It is planted alongside Marquis and both were sown on April 16 and 17. The Prelude wheat is fully twenty days ahead of the Marquis, and both are the finest crop ever seen in the country. The results fully bear out the Saunders' claim as regards Prelude wheat. It is heard, appears like Red Fife, but is fully a month earlier."

Remember the garden party tonight.

Council Make it 15 Mills

At a special meeting of the City Council, Monday morning, the by-law striking the rate for 1913 was passed.

There were present, besides His Worship the Mayor, Aldermen Lord, Smith, Bortwell and Carswell. The current expenditures will be $26,900.28, calling for 6 mills. The rate will be $21,916.90, requiring 5 mills.

The debt interest indebtedness will require $26,900.28, calling for 6 mills. Public Schools $29,911.14, requiring 4 mills.

Separate School $626.30, requiring 4 mills.

The tax rate will therefore be 15 mills on the dollar, a lower rate than almost any city or town in the province. The Commissioners are to be congratulated on this low rate, which reflects credit on their ability as financiers; more especially is credit due Commissioner A. T. Stephenson, who had most of the figuring to do.

We give below a few figures of how the reduction in express rates works out. The rates from Red Deer to the points below are shown, both old and new, per 100 pounds, the produce rate being the new.

PASSED THEIR EXAMINATIONS

The following, all pupils of Miss Michener, have passed the Toronto Conservatory of Music Examination:

Junior Grade - Freda McBride, Myrtle Arkibald, Primary grade - Sallie Spillard, honors; Alice Grant.

Arrangements are now complete for the big gathering of former residents of the Maritime Provinces, in Red Deer, Wednesday, July 30.

It is to be an old-fashioned basket picnic, and will be held on the exhibition grounds and park parking. On arrival at Red Deer the party will be met by the Red Deer citizens and band and escorted to the grounds. After lunch on a number of short speeches will be delivered by prominent eastern men who are now residents of Alberta. Some of the speakers will be Lieut. Gov. Bulyea, Hon. Judge Mitchell, T. M. Tweedie, M.P.P., Ald. George T. Ross, F. A. Morrison, L.L.B., of Vegreville, N. A. Carruthers of Lacombe, F. H. Whitehead, M.P.P., Coronation, and others.

Following this will be the general sports, baseball, Calgary vs. Red Deer, and a regular programme of sports will be carried out, and after supper the Red Deer committee plan on giving the visitors a drive through the city, etc. The Red Deer band will be in attendance, and the committee in Calgary will probably arrange to take papers with them.

It is expected that there will be six or seven hundred visitors in attendance, as a special train will leave Calgary at 7.30 in the morning and arrive in Red Deer at 1.30 in the afternoon.

Not only is this picnic for Maritime people, but a most cordial invitation is extended to all citizens of Red Deer to take part. Everybody is asked to bring a basket and have a jolly good time.

The Red Deer committee in charge of the picnic is as follows: G. W. Smith, chairman, H. L. Gaetz, W. E. Lord, Rev. Dr. Wilson, G. B. Parker, T. A. Gaetz, F. L. Brown, and M. Shute.

This promises to be the greatest of its kind ever held in the province, and we feel sure a splendid welcome will be given the visitors on their arrival in the city.

Struck by Lightning at Innisfail

BOY KILLED AND OLD TIMER DEAD

The hand of death has indeed been busy in the Innisfail district during the past few days. It is only a few days since Foster McCurdy, the late manager of the Taprell ranch, caused a sensation locally by committing suicide. Mr. Foster had been in a despondent frame of mind for some time and finally ended his life by taking a large dose of bicarbonate of mercury.

No more deaths occurred in the neighborhood for some days, until, on Monday afternoon, a little boy of twelve years of age, named Archie Holden, the son of Alex Davidson, a well known farmer in the district, was riding through the bush near his town, when his horse stumbled and threw him. Evidently he suffered some serious injury to his head, as he fell into a pool of water, and, being unable to rise, suffered death from drowning. An investigation is being held.

One of the oldest of the Innisfail old timers passed away on Monday evening in the person of Solomon Holden, aged 88. For some years past, Mr. Holden has been in a very feeble state of health, and a few months ago he received a paralytic stroke, which undoubtedly hastened his end. Mr. Holden was one of the few men who reached the Klondike goldfields in the rush of '98 by the Overland route, although at that date he was a middle-aged man. Mr. Holden had resided in the Innisfail district for some twenty-seven years.

During the terrible thunderstorm which swept the country from Crossfield to Bowden, on Monday afternoon, Joseph Norman, who was driving a hay rake some four miles south of Innisfail, was struck by lightning. The bolt cut a line down the back of his head and scored a mark on his body extending from the left shoulder to the left leg. The unfortunate man fell off the rake and the horses ran away, cutting themselves severely in a barbed wire fence. When he was picked up a short time afterwards, he was unconscious, and throughout the entire night he remained in a semi-conscious condition. At the time of writing he is still in a state of coma, and his life may be truly said to be hanging on a thread.

Wed in October

London, July 17.—It is stated that the marriage of Prince Arthur of Connaught to the Duchess of Fife will be celebrated in October, before the Prince's father returns to Canada to take up his duties as Governor-General of the Dominion.

Fifth Band Concert

Weather permitting, the Red Deer Citizens' Band will play the fifth concert of the series on Friday evening, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, on the Lands Office Square. An enjoyable programme is being prepared. While the Band appreciates having the privilege of playing on the lawn of the Lands Office, it rather regrets from the pleasure of the persons comprising the audience to have to lean on the picket fence surrounding the lawn while, on the south half of the grounds, the tennis players are running about at will. True, the tennis players may be using rubber shoes, but the citizens would appreciate it sufficiently not to put up the lawn if the enial Captain would kindly grant them permission to step inside the fence and sit down in the comfortable position to enjoy the music. Here's hoping, Captain. Thanks very much.

Reception at Penhold

On Thursday last the members of the Methodist Church assembled to welcome their new pastor, Rev. H. Arthur Barton. Although Mr. Barton has only been with us a short time, it was evident he has already endeared himself to the people. All the members from both town and country gave him a most hearty welcome. Mr. Alfred Speakman made an excellent chairman. After a short musical programme, Rev. H. Arthur Barton addressed the meeting in his usual breezy style, sparkling with wit and humor. Mrs. Butters, who is visiting Mr. Speakman, greatly added to the enjoyment of the evening by giving a recitation in fine style. Mr. Frank Speakman rendered a song, and Miss Irida Lee sang a charming little solo with auto harp accompaniment. Refreshments and most enjoyable tete-a-tetes brought a pleasant evening to a close.

A NEW FOREST RESERVE IN ALBERTA

The Dominion Reserves a Large Area Near Lesser Slave Lake.

One of the principal items in the new amendments to the Forest Reserves and Parks Act passed on June 6th, 1913, was the creation of the Lesser Slave Lake Forest Reserve, having an area of five thousand and twenty-three square miles. This reserve lies about one hundred miles north-west of Edmonton and has a general elevation of from three to four thousand feet above the sea level, covering a mountainous tract south of Lesser Slave Lake which forms the water-shed of the tributaries of the Peace and Athabasca Rivers.

This region was originally examined by a forest-survey party in charge of Mr. D. Roy Cameron, B.A., B.Sc., F., whose report on the timber conditions around Lesser Slave Lake may now be had in bulletin form from the Forestry Branch, Ottawa. A detailed description of this survey is given by Mr. Cameron, which proves conclusively that the land examined is non-agricultural. This report was verified by a forest survey made in this region by Mr. Don Cameron, also heretofore, who also reported on a contiguous area of even greater size, extending southwest from the present Lesser Slave Lake reserve to within six miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and to within eighteen miles of the present Rocky Mountains Forest Reserve. This latter area is similar in character to that examined by Mr. Cameron, and should be added to the present Lesser Slave Lake Reserve, as it might have been, had the survey of the region been completed in sufficient time to determine the extended boundary.

The purpose of these reservations is not to retard, but to further the proper development of the country. The reports of these surveys show clearly that the land within the Reserve is non-agricultural, but outside these areas on the lower reaches of the Athabasca, Little Smoky and Lesser Slave Rivers and on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake, which are not reserved, are considerable areas of agricultural land. In a few years the prairie lands north-west towards the Peace will be almost entirely surrounded by farming communities. "This reserve," says Mr. Cameron, "will, therefore, be the natural source of timber supply for these communities, and, indeed, practically the only source of supply available. Not only make this reservation, which means not to protect this wooded area from fire and provide for a constant future supply of timber, but also to protect the interests of the settlers already established in the vicinity, and to the homesteaders who will settle on the surrounding agricultural lands in the next twenty years. Just how and why this result would follow is clearly shown in the reports of Messrs. Cameron and Doucet.

The two areas examined—the present reserve and the proposed addition—are very similar in topography, soil and forest conditions. Speaking of the proposed addition to the Lesser Slave Lake Reserve, Mr. Doucet reports that "much of the land is high, hilly, sandy and stony and unsuitable for agriculture. A large tract of it belongs to summit plateaus forming the water-sheds of numerous streams entering into the Athabasca River of Lesser Slave Lake. A few acres of agricultural soil occur here and there inside the boundaries of the proposed reserve, but these are so unfrequented and isolated that they do not warrant the same conditions exist in the newly-created Reserve, the plateau region dominating in the high broken country of the Swan Hills. Thirty per cent. of this reserve is composed of muskeg and, owing to the blocking of the drainage during the glacial age, the muskeg is to be found not only along the rivers, but also covering a large portion of the plateau region, and even on the height of land between the drainage basins. With the exception of a few isolated patches of agricultural soil which occur in this reserve, the remainder of the area is composed of broken hill country. "Here," quoting from Mr. Cameron's report, "is a large area much broken by cross ridges and deep ravines, but covered to a considerable depth with a top layer of clay loam mixed with stones. Owing to the latter, and to the rough nature of the country, this region is unsuitable for agriculture, but it is one of the best locations for timber growth that could be found. Indeed it was once covered with the finest stand of spruce and lodgepole pine in the north country."

Unfortunately, these fine stands of spruce and lodgepole pine—the original and ultimate forest type—only occur as remnants, for the whole region has been repeatedly swept by fire. Speaking of the northern face or "shield" of the Swan Hills in the Lesser Slave Lake, Mr. Cameron says "It was covered formerly with a magnificent stand of spruce and lodgepole pine. Now it is a blackened ruin, treeless, and in many cases, siltless, a monument of man's recklessness." Mr. Doucet, who made the survey of the proposed reserve to the south-west, writes, "Of the seven thousand, three hundred and thirty square miles examined, only about twenty-three per cent. have been preserved from fire during the last hundred years, and only two hundred and fifty square miles could be considered as bearing a mature growth. No one will ever know how many millions of dollars worth of the national wealth in virgin forest was turned into the ashes, now being washed away, with the best of the soil, by the rapid current of the Athabasca River.

NO FALL SESSION OF PARLIAMENT SAYS POLITICIANS

Impression in Big Political Circles in Ottawa—Members Sit in New Year.

Ottawa, Ont., July 17.—The Evening Citizen says: "The impression prevailing in high political circles here at present is that there will be no fall session of parliament. "The matter, of course, has not been definitely decided as yet, and will in a measure, depend upon extent of the government's legislative program and also as to what which may occur. Just now, however, the ministers intend to sit in the parliament house until the new year, immediately after New Year. Regarding the naval bill and the recognition of emergency, the marine department is communicating with the British Board of Trade on the subject and the Canadian representative will operate with that body.

GREAT DRY-DOCK TO LIFT WARSHIPS

Largest Vessels Can be Accommodated for Repairs at Montreal—A Perilous Voyage

For two years and a half dredges delved into the bed of the St. Lawrence River near Malouine, scooping out a basin to act as a resting place for the huge Montreal dry dock, "The Duke of Connaught" which was placed in position after an adventurous trip across the Atlantic in tow of two powerful tugs. During the voyage the hawners broke five times and the unwieldy dock narrowly escaped being dashed to pieces on the rocky shores of Cape Breton.

The best speed the tugs made with the great dry-dock was four miles an hour. The dock itself is capable of accommodating the largest ships of the British navy, and is of the self-docking, double sided type, known as a bolted sectional. The pontoon is divided into three sections, surmounting two parallel side walls, which, when bolted together, form one huge dock. Each section may if required be operated independently of the others, and this is likely to be of advantage in handling small ships. From the sea-level to the bridge the dock measures some sixty feet, length over platforms, 400 feet; beam 135 feet, depth of pontoon at centre 17 feet, draught of vessel 27 1/2 feet, and lifting capacity, 35,000 tons.

Despite her long and stormy journey the dock arrived in perfect condition. The new and big dry-dock, all told, and was composed entirely of Dutchmen.

When a ship, crippled by one of the many mishaps of the sea, is in need of repairs, it is towed towards the dry-dock, and the whole is water like an immense square ship with open ends. Slowly the dock is lowered into the water, then, when the ship is in position, the dock is lowered, and the ship is held in position by admitting water to its air-chambers.

Finally it rests on the bottom. Then the ship is towed in by tug, and is brought to a stop between the walls which now rise only a few feet above the surface and the water. Then an order is given, and slowly the dock begins to rise. Air is being pumped into the chambers, and the whole dock with the ship securely supported between its walls, rises to view again. The ship is then raised, and the dock is being brought into play. By it, a vessel weighing 25,000 tons may be raised, and the dock is being brought into play. The lifting accomplished, chains which pass through big pulleys in the wall are attached to the hull, and which are attached to winches on the dock operated by electricity, begin to wind up, and the dock, ship and all, is drawn close to the wall of the basin. There all is made fast, and the work of repair begins.

AFTER HUGE DIAMOND

According to Theory It Should Weigh Many Tons

There is no active operation what is probably the most wonderful mining venture ever recorded. The object of the quest is an enormous meteor which struck the earth ages ago, and is believed to be practically a solid diamond worth millions of pounds. The scene of this amazing mining operation is Meteor Mountain, in the heart of the Arizona desert. The top of the mountain is hollowed out into a huge bowl-shaped depression about 600 feet deep and perhaps a mile across, much like a volcanic crater, and there exists a belief that this crater marks the place where a giant meteorite, as large as the air-conference or the bowl would indicate, struck the earth many thousands of years ago and buried itself deep in the earth. The theory that the main body of the meteor was broken up by one huge diamond is based both upon the finding of gems in scattered fragments and on the opinion of Sir William Crookes that the bottomless mines, known as "diamond pipes," in which these gems are usually found are the result of falling meteors.

AFTER THE FAKES

Mails of Canada Closed to Questionable Enterprises

The Postmaster-General of Canada and the United States are uniting in a crusade against mail order schemes which have been using the mails of both countries for fraudulent purposes. Quick-money men are, according to the post-office authorities, increasing in Canada at a disturbing rate, many of them who were driven out of New York, Chicago and other cities across the line by the activities of the United States officials having turned their attention to Canada as a particularly ripe field for their line of endeavor.

Lived 110 Years Joseph Marshall, a carpenter, 110 years old, who died at Chicago, was born in Germany in 1802, and emigrated when he was 40 years old. At the age of 80 years Marshall ceased his work as a carpenter, and when he was 105 years old he stopped the use of tobacco.

A THOUGHTFUL CHILD "Was that policeman ever a little baby, mother?" asked a little girl. "Why, yes, dear." "I don't believe I've ever seen a baby policeman," said the child, thoughtfully.

TOO LATE "Hands up!" exclaimed the Western train robber. "Time your money." "Too late," replied the tourist. "I got off at the next station, and I've already tipped the porter."

HIS AMBITION Kind Lady (at children's party): "Well my little man, what are you going to be when you grow up?" Little Man (tugging at uncomfortable necktie): "Somebody what don't wear a collar."

Winston Churchill Tells Effect of Rejection of Canadian Naval Aid Bill

Senate's Action Has Deprived Mother Country of Help She Was Depending On—Unless Sacrifice of British Taxpayer Fills Gap, General Defence of the Empire Must Suffer—Will Be Three Ships Short—Use of Oil Fuel Explained.

London, July 18.—(Through Reuters Agency, Ottawa.)—Right Hon. Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, in making his statement in the house of commons yesterday on the shipbuilding estimates, dealt at the outset with the question of the use of oil as fuel in the navy.

He said that there were now built and building more than one hundred destroyers, solely dependent upon oil for fuel. One of his earliest inquiries to the admiralty was directed to the subject of oil supply, and it has been found that no difficulty was experienced in buying it. The great advantage which liquid fuel possessed in solving the problem of naval designs was that it made it possible to obtain vessels of a very high speed as compared with their dimensions. All these advantages were enjoyed equally by other nations using liquid fuel, but there would be one special advantage possessed by the strongest fleet, namely, that it would not be obliged to leave the high seas to replenish its fuel supplies.

IMPORTANCE IS EMPHASIZED. Mr. Churchill, continuing, emphasized the importance of liquid fuel. In regard to the latest battleships and fast light cruisers, the admiralty had used oil over the whole field of new constructions in the programme of 1912-13. These conditions were repeated this year, but live of

In the Highest Degree Profitable

Some men figure that as the mercury climbs up sales will fall down. And figuring that way, fate is kind and does not disappoint them.

So there has grown up a commercial superstition that Summer is a dull season.

No greater fallacy has ever gone so long unchallenged. Summer is a dull season for many lines—but there is no fundamental reason why it should be.

For instance, take a typical case—that of the Canadian wallpaper manufacturers.

They wished to secure their placing orders from the retailers before the only fall—when American lines are offered. Through education by Advertising, they advanced the season to start the middle of June, instead of the end of August, and they now beat their foreign competitors to the market by nearly three months.

Perhaps you face a selling problem that education by Advertising will solve. Perhaps your Summer business needs the tonic of Summer Advertising.

As the mercury climbs up to its highest degree, increase, rather than slacken, your Advertising and selling efforts. You will find it profitable—in the highest degree.

TEN MILLIONS WANTED.

The News-Telegram, Calgary, is advancing the Dominion Government mind-aiding Alberta by a loan of ten million dollars.

Firstly, why do we need such a loan? Is it not because our legislators, the Sifton government, have foolishly squandered our money in doubtful railway enterprises, and our resources for a paltry pitance?

Secondly, what guarantee have we that if the Dominion Government come to our assistance, the money would be spent any more wisely than formerly?

Thirdly, it is not customary when the prodigal expends all his cash, giving him by his parent, in riotous living, he is given another fortune to spend by the same parent, in the same way. Our lesson is sufficient.

The Sifton Government seems to be running the province on the rocks. Were it not for the way provincial affairs have been conducted, our credit would certainly be better than it is today. As it is, instead of being the leading province financially in the Dominion, as we should be, we are absolutely the worst.

Can we hope for assistance from the Dominion Government while the present mixers and mudlarks are at the helm?

In the meantime it is costing the province one thousand dollars a day interest without one sign of relief.

VACATION AT HOME

Change ground your habits of living. Put a tent in the back yard and imagine you are camping out. Get up an hour or two earlier in the morning and take a hike through the park or into the country. Have the missus pack a basket of food, and with her and the children ride out to a pond or brook or grove and hold a picnic now and then. It can be done Wednesday or Saturday afternoon, or arrange to go for over Sunday to some high-spirited farm, house or village inn and take a complete rest for 36 hours. It would even be a good idea to give up your car for a few days, giving up if you can get the use of a horse and wagon. Anything for vacation from the degrading routine and for the freshening of spirit that comes from being close to old mother earth and from throwing dust aside.

BIG STOCK VARIES FOR CALGARY

Plans are on foot for establishing mammoth stock yards in Calgary, and it is planned to go through already several pastures, and to erect a connection on the south.

The would be of considerable value to the province, and would solve the problem of high freight rates, and shipments to distant points, and the farmer would have, not only a splendid market at his very door, but would receive better prices for his stock, and the consumer would be saved the heavy additional charges of transportation.

Alberta is a great stock country, and there is no reason why the west should not have an industry of this kind, the foremost in Canada.

We hope to see this idea carried out.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION.

Arthur Meighen, the newly appointed Solicitor-General of the Dominion, was elected by acclamation on Saturday last as member of the Dominion Parliament for Portage la Prairie. It does not look as though Western Liberals were very anxious to test the voice of the people, otherwise they would not have allowed this seat to go by default. In any event, Mr. Meighen would have defeated any man that could have been brought against him by a larger majority than that secured at the last election.

A HIGHLY PREVALENT DISEASE.

Science seems to have no limit to the tasks it will assume. The editor of American Medicine asserts that the proper cure for the gambler is in a sanatorium. "A time may come," according to his assertion, "when the nature of such habits will be brought to the attention." But before science undertakes this cure it must settle a practical point. Will the man who bets his pile on the rise or fall of "stocks, grain or pork" be rated as a gambler, or only the one who stakes his wad on cards or the ponies?—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Lethbridge Herald is horrified to hear that Mr. Fielding and Mr. Boardman were paying off each other. We don't know much about golf, but we bet two bits that if they were playing poker Mr. Fielding would skin his opponent so badly that he wouldn't know which end he was standing on in about two jiffs.

Arday

July 15th, 1913. James Jamieson arrived in Arday Monday morning with 213 head of cattle from Ontario. We can easily see why Mr. Jamieson is going into the cattle business in the right way.

Arday has been visited with very heavy rain and a good old snowstorm on last Sunday night.

Mrs. Wm. Sim and son Alex were over from Edwell and spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Goyne.

The U.F.A. celebrated their picnic last Saturday very successfully. The day was fine and a large crowd turned out. During the afternoon baseball and football and horse-racing kept the folks interested in fact, there was something going on all day. Floating in Ellswater Lake was quite an attraction. The U.F.A. are to be congratulated on the way everything was handled.

A great number of the farmers in this district are going to summer having the beginning of next week, and as the grain is beginning to head out, it looks as if we will soon hear the hum of the binder.

Mr. Fich from Gladby, was a business visitor in town this week.

BILLIONS MORE FOR CANADA IN FUTURE YEARS

Gov. Foss Issues Statement in Boston to Say He Sees Big Development.

NEXT FEW YEARS BIG FOR DOMINION

Boston, July 17.—Governor Foss today issued a statement regarding the movement of United States manufacturers into Canada. He declared that in addition to the three to five hundred millions that have already gone across the border there are billions more to go.

The Governor says: "I find that up to January 11, 1913, approximately 175 American companies had established themselves in Canada."

"He gives a list of the American concerns now located there and particularly points out that one is the American Hovver Company of which United States Secretary of Commerce Redfield was the President."

MOVEMENT TO CONTINUE.

"I believe that this movement of American capital toward Canada will continue. I believe that it will greatly increase from year to year under the present fiscal systems in both countries.

"Indubitably the development of Canada, in the next twenty-five years will be relatively greater than in the United States. This fact impels enterprising concerns to fortify themselves by locating within Canadian borders."

CONTROLLED FROM ACROSS BORDER.

"In many instances the plants which our manufacturers are establishing in Canada are owned and financed by the parent concerns in this country, and in some instances, even the weekly shipment of funds from the parent concern to its branch in Canada."

"I believe it is a conservative statement to say that up to date, at least five hundred million of American capital has been poured into Canada in the building of American properties across the border."

HOLOCAUST OF RAPINE AND MURDER VISITED ON INHABITANTS OF SERES

Austrian Consul at Saloniki Makes Official Statement

WOMEN COVERED WITH OIL AND BURNED TO DEATH

Inhuman Atrocities of Bulgarian Soldiers Almost Beyond Comprehension—Men Thrown in Trenches After Being Stabbed, and Buried Alive.

Berlin, July 19.—Authenticated news of massacres, mutilations and a veritable holocaust of rapine and murder, visited upon inhabitants of Seres and the surrounding country by the Bulgarian troops, reached here today in the form of a long statement from the Austrian consul at Saloniki.

He charges several Bulgarian officials and he gives their regiment and company with having dishonored his wife in the presence of scores of soldiers, and hundreds of the inhabitants, who later were shot down or bayoneted.

CRUCIFIED AND BURIED.

A special investigating body sent to Seres also has reported. The report confirms the charges by the consul.

Toward the evening of the last day of murder, according to the report, about eighty women and girls were found huddled in the basement of a warehouse by a company of soldiers and were raped and murdered. From that after the younger women, some of them girls of tender age, had been dishonored, the soldiers secured several barrels of petroleum oil from a nearby storeroom, poured it over the women, locked all exits and set fire to the place. The bodies of the dead were found by the investigating committee. Some of the bodies were headless; others had been dismembered.

BURNED ALIVE.

In a large public hall, twenty officials and wealthy men of the town were rounded up by the soldiers, who stabbed them with bayonets and swords and then carried them to a trench and covered them partly with earth. The bodies were then when they lay in the trench, the men, terribly slashed to the face and body, lived to tell the committee of what had happened.

TWENTY MILLIONS DAMAGE.

The consul reports that the number of murdered will never be known, but that it will reach thousands. Property damages through fire and the looting of stores and private residences, the committee believes will reach close to $20,000,000. Much of this was portable, and included money, jewelry, silverware and other valuables and metals from the churches that were sacked.

Physician Asserts Leprosy May Be Cured

This is Statement of Medical Superintendent of Lazarettto, Located at Tracadie, N.B.—Twenty-one Patients There Undergoing Treatment

Ottawa, July 18.—That the dread disease of leprosy is curable is shown in a statement made by Dr. Lamont, medical superintendent of the Lazarettto at Tracadie, N.B., to the public health department here. Two patients who were in the early stages of leprosy had been discharged during the year from the Lazarettto after treatment by Dr. Bevels Nason. These, followed since May, 1911.

There are at present in the Lazarettto twenty-one patients, eleven males and ten females. Seventeen of these are of French-Canadian, two of Irish, and one of Russian origin. No deaths occurred during the year.

The leprosy Lazarettto at Tracadie, N.B., was used during the year for accommodation of long Chinese leprosy while awaiting deportation under the immigration regulations. The death of one of these men occurred at Tracadie, N.B., in the month of June. He was a Chinese, and was deported to China. They were given the address of the leprosy mission hospital at Canton and given enough for their stay there for some time.

When approached on the railway station, the western premier observed that he had nothing to say on the matter. In the course of a brief interview, however, he said that he could read a dispatch sent out last week from Edmonton, which stated also that nothing of the kind was being done in London, and that the view of taking action against the Alberta government, as an invention of political opponents, any man, who would authorize such a statement, would be idiotic, he said.

Mr. Sifton is at the King Edward Hotel. He is returning from his trip to Europe, having arrived in Toronto this morning, and will leave for the west tonight.

CANADIAN SCHOLARS IN UNITED STATES

A Few of the Eminent Men From Canada Who Are Prominent in American Education

Cyrus McMillan, writing in the Canada Monthly, has the following to say of eminent Canadian scholars who have reached great prominence in the United States:

"Canada's population is comparatively small, and her educational history is comparatively brief. Yet Canada has done more than her share in giving to the world a number of eminent scholars whose writings and researches have increased the store of human knowledge. She has contributed largely in brains and service to the greatest American universities, until almost every university of note in the United States numbers one or more Canadians on its staff."

The majority of these leading authorities in their special fields of study, and the results of their researches are accessible with ready access by scholars throughout the world. This latter fact accounts, perhaps, for the eagerness of American colleges to secure their services. That this band of outstanding scholars should be lost to Canada at the time of her growth and critical development is unfortunate. Why they are lost is an unanswered question. It is pointed out in explanation that Canada has no strong graduate school in which students are trained for educational careers; that consequently students, seeking graduate degrees, remain in the alien country and are lost to their own land. This explanation is not without force. The graduate school problem is one which the larger Canadian colleges are to-day trying hard to solve.

Recognition in Canada.

Another theory is the old one of the prophet without honor in his own country. It is said that Canadians in college work have no recognition in their own land. That is, when a vacancy occurs on the staff of a Canadian university, Canadians are ignored and the vacancy is invariably filled by a man from an overseas school or college who is frequently but poorly qualified for the task. Canadian universities are a good place for a Canadian scholar to avoid, if he wishes promotion," said a noted Canadian-born professor in the United States recently. How well-founded is this theory, the Canadian colleges can answer. The regrettable fact is that a glance at the faculty of the majority of Canadian colleges shows it to be not without truth. Some of the foremost American universities have Canadian-born presidents. President J. G. Schurman, of Cornell, is a native of Prince Edward Island; he was an early college teacher in Canada. President H. W. of the University of Missouri, is a native of Nova Scotia; he took his first college degree at Dalhousie. The group of Canadian-born professors connected with the faculty of Harvard, the colleges is a very nice one. Professor Le Rossignol, the noted economist of the University of Colorado, and Professor MacDougal, the eminent psychologist of New York, are both graduates of McGill, and claim Canada as their home-land.

But of all United States colleges, Harvard University has the largest number of Canadian-born professors on its staff. Of the majority, the majority are from Ontario. Canadianism at Harvard is illustrated not alone by the number of Canadian students and professors.

Numerous at Harvard.

Of the distinguished group of Canadian-born professors at Harvard, the oldest is Dr. S. M. McVane, Emeritus Professor of History. Dr. McVane is a native of Prince Edward Island. He was graduated from Acadia College in Nova Scotia in 1865. Dr. Benjamin Rand, Librarian of the Philosophical Library at Harvard, is well known to Canadians. He was one of the founders of the Harvard Canadian Club, and is still its leading spirit. Dr. Rand is a native of Nova Scotia, and like Professor McVane a graduate of Acadia College. Dr. W. A. Neilson, Professor of English, is a Scotchman by birth, but he has lived long enough in Canada to be called a Canadian. After graduating from Edinburgh University, he came to Ayr, Ontario. For a time he was connected with the staff of Upper Canada College.

Dr. E. C. Jeffrey, Professor of Botany, is a native of St. Catharines, Ontario. He was graduated from Toronto University in 1888. He became a Fellow in Biology in Toronto University in 1890, and two years later was elected to the subject. Dr. W. H. Schofield, Chairman of the Department of Comparative Literature, was born in Brockville, Ontario. He was graduated from Victoria University, Toronto, in 1889. Dr. W. B. Munro, Professor of Biology, is a native of Ontario. He was graduated from Queen's University, and later received his Ph.D. degree in Government from the Harvard Graduate School.

Dr. W. S. Ferguson, Professor of Classical History, is a native of Prince Edward Island. He was graduated from McGill University in 1896.

Dr. K. G. T. Webster, Instructor in English, is a native of Nova Scotia. He was graduated from Dalhousie University in the early nineties. The members of the above group of Canadian scholars at Harvard are modern investigators and authorities; they are sympathetic teachers. To Canadian school-boys they are outstanding and brilliant examples of the results of industry, perseverance, and study.

South Africa not only supplies itself with explosives, but exports dynamite in large quantities to Australia and the East. The saving to Australian mines by this means is estimated to be $250,000 a year.

Hillsdown Local U. F. A.

A fairly well attended meeting of the above branch of the U.F.A. was held at Mr. J. Moschenross' house on Saturday, July 12th. The Secretary was instructed to get full particulars about forming an egg circle and to get quotations for fruit from the central office. It was also decided to send in a petition to the Dominion Government asking them to take steps to prevent the Indians from trapping on forest land. The next monthly meeting will be held at Mr. J. Moschenross' on Saturday, August 9th, at 8 p.m. Every old member should endeavor to bring a new member with him.

Overcrowding in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, July 18.—Three women and two men in one bed, two more men and a man and his wife all sleeping in the same little room, containing 1,365 cubic feet of air, when it should have contained 3,600 cubic feet of air, was one of the conditions shown to exist at 393 Sutherland avenue, part of the foreign settlement, the home of M. Proschyn, in police court today. This was one of the five different places which were prosecuted by E. J. W. Hagen, health inspector, on charges of overcrowding. Proschyn was fined $10 and costs.

A BROWNING COURTSHIP

By Alice L. Fairweather, in The Westminster

January 1st, 19— I have decided to keep a diary. It is to be no mere record of events, but my own impressions and opinions of the people, places, and places. I wish to be able to judge whether my character is improving or otherwise, whether I am becoming or growing narrower in mind. "The end, whether reached or not, makes great the life." What an inspiring Browning is. I will try to read more good books and poetry, as I promised dear Miss Riddell when I left school last year.

January 3rd.—One resolution broken already. I meant to write in my diary, every day, but the many interruptions today prevented me. How my social life interferes with the most studious, earnest life I would lead, yet one cannot withdraw from the world. I might have stayed at home from Miss Riddell's tea this afternoon, but after all, one owes a certain duty to one's social position. (I am trying to avoid too many "I's," but that impersonal pronoun is hard to manage.)

January 5th.—Meant to read "A Soul's Tragedy," but felt too tired to-night, so have just finished "The Death." It may not improve my mind, but it is a beautiful portrayal of the brightest emotion the human breast is capable of: Love. Wonder if I could love as that man and woman did, and if I could be true through long years of waiting.

"I wait for my story, the birds cannot sing it. Not one as he sits on the tree. The bells can only ring it, but long years, oh, bring it, such as I wish it to be."

January 11th.—I feel I will not tie myself down to writing every day, but only when I have something important to record.

January 15th.—Last night Harold brought a college friend to dinner. He has come from a small town in the West to practice law in our city. Rather a handsome man with fair, curly hair, gray eyes and a strong chin. He seems determined to win recognition in his profession, and one feels that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes. He is very musical, writes very well and is intensely musical. I have devoted almost a page to Mr. Hamilton, but my diary was to record my impressions of people as well as of books and events.

January 16th.—Have been reading Tennyson with Mr. Hamilton. He does not care for Browning as I do, but I hope to lead him to the nobler poet. Tennyson is very musical and appeals to that side of his nature, but Browning reaches the soul, Mr. Hamilton reads aloud very well.

January 18th.—Have begun to read letters between Mr. and Mrs. Brown. What ideal lovers they were. Harold makes such amusing remarks about passing the library door and hearing Mr. Hamilton say "my dear." It was in the letters of course, but a brother never does understand. It seems odd that a stranger seems to appreciate one's finer feelings better than those who have known one all her life.

February 7th.—We have finished the letters and gone on to poems themselves. Jack feels that he will understand the poems better now that he seems to know more of the poet, as one cannot help but feel after reading those outpourings of the soul which he sent his beloved.

February 14th.—I am proud of my convert. He is able to explain many passages I could never grasp the meaning of. He thinks deeply and seems to feel deeply. In the box of violets he sent for a Valentine, I found his card, "Violets blue as your eyes" written on it. My eyes are gray and the violets are purple, but the thought was beautiful.

March 21st.—
"Be a god and hold me
With a charm
Be a man and hold me
With thine arm."

Jack did!

March 23rd.—I will paste in this clipping from "The Times," for I am too happy to write.

"Mrs. P. Vanderdecken announces the engagement of her daughter, Mae, to John Hamilton, of Centreville, Manitoba."

We're going to Florence on a Browning Pilgrimage for our wedding trip.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

SOMETHING LIKE COMFORT

Oh, it's mighty comforting, when your hair is getting thin,
And the wrinkles in your face have come to stay,
Just to feel her little hand smoothing out one's silver strands,
While you meet her loving look and hear her say:—

"John, my dear, it seems as though every day you live you grow Handsomer than in the oldest days," And you smile back at your wife, while you think in all your life, You never heard a sweeter word of praise.

Then somehow the tapers rise to your dim, old fading eyes,
While you kiss the tender hand, still white and small,
And you try to tell her how you loved her then—you love her now,
But, bless me, if the words will come at all!

For just then it comes to you to think of trials she's gone through
And borne without a murmur for your sake;
You can only bow your head at the loving things she's said,
And your poor old heart can only ache and ache.

But she knows what ails you then, and she kisses you again,
While you hear her gently whisper, sweet and low:—
"Life has brought more hopes than fears; we have known more smiles than tears;
You're the dearest of dears, John Anderson, my Jo!"

So it's comforting, I say, when your hair is getting grey,
And you're slipping down life's hill a-mighty fast,
Just to feel her little hand stroking back each silver strand,
While she whispers that she loves you—to the last.

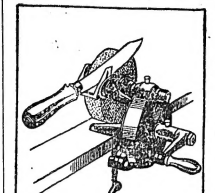

Heat Causes Many Deaths

Chicago, Ill., July 18.—More than twenty deaths were caused by heat today in the middle states, Louisville was the worst sufferer with twelve deaths, a maximum temperature of 104 and only 13 degrees drop at night. St. Louis added three more to that city's list of deaths in the present heat wave.

KNIFE SHARPENER

Guide Holds Blade in Right Position Against Wheel

A knife sharpening tool by which an inexperienced person can put a fine edge on a blade has been designed by a Wisconsin man. A grinding wheel clamps to the edge of a table and is turned by a handle. A tool rest is mounted in front of this wheel so that projections come up along both sides.

INSURES PROPER REVEL. holds the knife firmly in such position that a proper bevel is assured. Of course, the blade is sharpened on the side facing the wheel, which grinds the edge. As the wheel turns from the operator, there is no danger of the knife being jammed between it and the guide, as it continually lifts the knife. Grinding by the side of the wheel gives a finer, smoother edge than could be obtained by grinding on the top. The guide will also hold scissors so they can be sharpened correctly.

AMERICAN INAUGURALS

In the First Ceremony the Bible Was Forgotten

It is recorded that when Washington was inaugurated, the ceremony taking place in New York, which was reached after a somewhat spectacular trip up the river, the chief event of the day was the signing of an act to the tune of "God Save the King." The Senate of the day was greatly agitated as to whether the members should sit or stand while the President was taking the oath of office, and in the confusion the necessary Bible was forgotten. One was brought from a Masonic lodge, and the ceremony proceeded. The second inauguration was even quieter, the President with his knee breeches and diamond shoe buckles being the only real spectacle. The Adams ceremony was simple enough but not simple enough, apparently, to suit Thomas Jefferson, who rode or horseback to the Capitol, without a single guard or a servant, dismounted without assistance, and hitched his horse to the fence. James Madison had the militia on parade when he was inaugurated, and guns boomed as he entered the Capitol. It was Madison who gave the first inaugural ball. The crash was so great that many women fainted, and it being impossible to raise the windows, they were broken in order to supply air to the fainting guests. As the years advanced, more thought was given to the spectacle, and of the comfort of the dancers, and when Monroe went to the White House he was able to entertain 8,000 guests without anybody finding it necessary to indulge in a swoon. His second inauguration was spoiled by rain. John Quincy Adams sought to show the sort of democrat he was by wearing a suit manufactured by American tailors out of American wool at his inaugural. Andrew Jackson started the handkerchief habit, and his inaugural was a sort of "rough house" affair. Because of jealousy between rival promoters Van Buren had two inaugural balls. There was a ball following Lincoln's first inauguration, but the President did not appear, this being the only time on record when the function was not graced by the presence of the Chief Executive.

WORK OF A CENTURY IN WESTERN CANADA

Wonderful Progress Since the First Settlers Arrived at Red and Assiniboia Rivers

More than a century ago the first crop was sown in Western Canada. The acreage placed under cultivation was not large, nor was the harvest which was reaped in the following summer an abundant one, for the farmers and the reapers were only one hundred and twenty-five in number. They were the Selkirk settlers, who late in the year 1812 had arrived at the junction of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers to establish the first colony of English-speaking people in the great west of Canada. Naturally in the spring of 1813 it was not with the thought of producing grain for export that this little community of Scottish immigrants decided to "break" a few acres of land along the banks of the Red River. Need of food for themselves and for a few domestic animals was the impelling force which led to the first wheat crop of the west. Fur-trading was the business of the country one hundred years ago, and little did the early pioneers of that vast portion of Canada think that one day their sweeping prairies would become the granary of an Empire and the home for thousands of farmers.

In 1831 the Red River settlement had increased in size to 2,731 people, 2,122 acres of land had been brought under cultivation, and the buildings and live stock comprised 375 houses, 365 stables, 124 barns, 410 horses and 1,442 cattle. To-day the site of that first settlement in the Canadian west is part of the largest industrial city of Winnipeg, and from a struggling group of one hundred and twenty-five souls the population of western Canada has grown until it now numbers 1,875,000 and has brought into cultivation nearly 15,000,000 acres of fertile prairie land. And the end is not yet. Only the southern half of the great west has been discovered, conquered and made productive. If it is any indication of the future of the west, the vision which the four ambitious Provinces of western Canada see more than another at the present time, it is the bigger and more mature vision into which they will have grown when the future development of the northern half of the west has been completed. Each of the Provinces has its wonderful northland, and the chief task before their respective peoples during the next twenty-five years will be the colonization and development of these last portions of Canada's unexplored territory.

THE PAS

Something About the Gateway to Hudson's Bay

The Pas, Manitoba, is known as the gateway to Hudson's Bay. In history it will be known as Ojapawika, the Indian name under which it was recognized by the pioneer. The Pas can look back as far as 1731, the year that Pierre Verel, a French trader, discovered the place, then a settlement of hostile Indians, on their search for the "Western" route to the Pacific. Alexander Mackenzie arrived at Ojapawika on his historic journey to the Pacific coast. A valuable relic is to be seen at The Pas—a sword of Mackenzie's journey. It is a beautifully curved pipe, which he used to smoke in a pipe made from the bark of the Indians. The pipe is now the valued possession of one of the residents at The Pas. In 1845 party which started north in search of Sir John Franklin, the explorer who tried to find the northwest passage out of Hudson's Bay, spent the winter at Ojapawika. While there the followers of Franklin built a mission church, carving all the nave by hand and inscribing the names of the party on a wooden slab, which adorned the inside of the little building for many years. The present Anglican church at The Pas still contains much of the handwork of the Franklin party. The plain historic landmarks of The Pas still standing are the Hudson's Bay post and the chief factors' house, within their barricade of pickets; the old mission graveyard, and the Indian cemetery, with its many fantastic monuments, situated about two miles up the river from The Pas.

ORIGIN OF CARDS

Can be Traced Only as Far as Fifteenth Century

The origin of playing cards is lost in a dim and obscure past, and their authentic history can only be traced as far back as the fifteenth century. Various theories have been brought forward as to the source from which European countries obtained them. Some contend that they came from the East; others, that they had an independent origin, like that of the Swastika, the Egyptian chariot wheel, though discovered in China centuries ago, was known at the same time in Mexico. An idea once prevailed that they were invented to amuse a mad French king, the fact that a French document, dated 1392, shows an entry of a payment made for painting cards for Charles VI. They seem to have been used by the Arabs and Saracens for divination, and even now they are still used to some considerable extent for that purpose. It is also established for that that the past few centuries have seen the production of many Eastern peoples, especially those of India and China, possessed of those which differed materially both in use and in design from those known to the Western world at a later date. It is impossible for one to trace the beginnings of card playing, but there is little doubt that the people of the East held playing cards in high esteem as mediums for the prediction of the future and the revelation of the unknown and heeded them as a part of their mystic lore.

Penhold U.F.A. Picnic

The U.F.A. picnic at Penhold on Wednesday last was quite a success. A large number of people went down from Red Deer, and with a good local turnout of farmers and their families made it quite a large affair. The usual sports were held, and two baseball games played, Penhold defeating Houn Hill 4-3 and Red Deer 1-0. There was also a good programme of local horse racing. The weather was fine, and everybody had a good time. The committee are deserving of thanks for their hard but successful work.

Insane From Hunger a Man Killed And Partly Ate Companion

Tortured by the furies of an Alaskan winter, subsisting thirty days on elk and moose, and driven by a storm-driven insurrection by an eight-day period of starvation, Henry Locreire, a French trapper, killed and partly ate the body of Lem. Lemeux, declared to have been a guide of the Hudson Bay Company, near Mile 63, British Columbia. Such was the fate of the trapper in a letter. Locreire and Lemeux tasted no morsel of any kind for eight days on an extended hunt. In a desperate fight, the trapper, in a moment, each man waited for the other to sleep, for the killing of one meant food for the other. Lemeux was killed, and Locreire ate his body for heart eight times. Twenty-three other wounds were also inflicted. Part of the body was eaten, while Lemeux remained in the state of death with his knife. Locreire has not been found.

The shadow places in the skies;

And tell him none of them are
But what is kind and good and fair.

As though by touch he understands
That he is in the safest place;
And so with fingers on your cheek
He sighs contentedly to sleep—
And you—you may not even speak.

North Red Deer Notes

The Council of North Red Deer met in regular session on Monday evening, the 21st inst., with all the members present and Reeve Kent in the chair. The minutes of the regular meeting of July 7th, as well as the minutes of the Council as a Court of Revision, were read and adopted.

The following accounts were ordered paid: A. Everson $1.50, E. O. Wagar $11.25, C. Horne $12.50, John Greene $25.00, C. Gully $25.00, and Jos. H. Peets $23.40, all but the first named account being for road work done under the direction of Councillors Kent and Rich, with Jos. H. Peets as foreman. The roads have been in good shape.

A letter from the Union of Alberta Municipalities was read, and it was decided that the village should join. The Secretary reported that he had received a letter from the Government Sanitary Engineer would be in Red Deer on Wednesday afternoon, the 23rd inst., and would make an inspection of the sewerage at the north and west of the village. The Reeve and Secretary-Treasurer were appointed a committee to accompany him on Thursday and Friday evening, Monday afternoon. The Council will endeavor to have this slough drained this summer if it is at all possible. It is probable that two appeals from the Court of Revision will be heard before a judge.

The Council instructed the Secretary to notify the owner of the lots on Cherry Street, on which a large excavation has been made, that a fence should be constructed along the street line as a protection to the public, and that he should be held liable by the village for any damage that might result from the excavation.

Burnt Lake U. F. A.

On July 5th Burnt Lake U. F. A. held their annual picnic at Sylvan Lake. The day turned out to be ideal for such a fete, and no more beautiful spot could have been chosen than the shady banks of the beautiful lake. The crowd represented not only the farming community of Burnt Lake, but from Red Deer to away west of Exalts. Teams began to arrive about 9 a.m., and by lunch time the whole country side was well represented.

Shortly after lunch the sports commenced, everyone taking a hand, from the 5-year-old tot to the 75-year-old farmer. Every event was keenly contested, especially the married men's race, which had so many contestants that the committee had to make two races, one over fifty years, and one under fifty. The basketball game between Burnt Lake and Sylvan Lake was won by Sylvan Lake, but the Burnt Lake boys had had no practice and hope to meet their opponents in the success of the day was in a great measure due to the hearty and liberal support given by the business houses of Red Deer and Sylvan Lake in the way of prizes for the sports; and at a meeting held afterwards, a hearty vote of thanks was voted for the following gentlemen and business houses for their generous contributions:

T. A. Gaetz, W. T. Coate, McLean Ross, W. E. Lord Co., Smith & Gaetz, Parker's Drug Co., Gaetz & Cornett, C. B. Schultz, Saddlery, Charlie Wong, S. D. Long, John McVicar, J. H. Hardware Co., R. B. Welliver, W. E. Peets, of Red Deer, and E. S. Grimson, Holston Drug Co., Land Paulson Co., Heenan & Larson of Sylvan Lake.

SPORT NOTES

W. J. Bailey won the quarter-mile bicycle championship at Norwich, England, in the record time of 30.24 seconds, beating the holder of the title, Vic Johnson, by half a length.

It is too far to go to Sylvan Lake for a swim. It would be nice if the Council fixed up that creek in the Park, south end of the city. Wouldn't cost much.

W. R. Applegarth, the English runner, beat the world's record for 150 yards on June 28th at Cardiff, doing the distance in 14.2-5 seconds, two yards inside R. E. Walker's record. He also won the 100 yards final in 9.4-5 seconds, after winning his heat in 10 seconds dead.

Tom Haywood, the Surrey veteran, has now scored his hundredth hundred in first class cricket in his 21st year with Surrey. Dr. W. G. Grace being the only other one who ever performed the feat, and he scored 125 centuries.

The great inter-city match, Calgary vs. Edmonton, looked forward to with so much interest, came off at Calgary on Saturday last, and resulted in a win for Edmonton by 21-1. It was a great game, and drew thousands of spectators. There was not much difference between the teams, but Edmonton's combination was ahead of the Calgary team. Markie, who is probably the finest inside right in the Dominion, was unable to play for the Edmonton team.

WE also have whetstones, and emery stones, as well as oil stones for mechanics' tools.

WE price such goods on a mighty close margin, for we sell good tools and want them to do good work.
